PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

(Kickoff to opening football game)

A book of this kind is a graphic example of the work of which modern young people are capable.

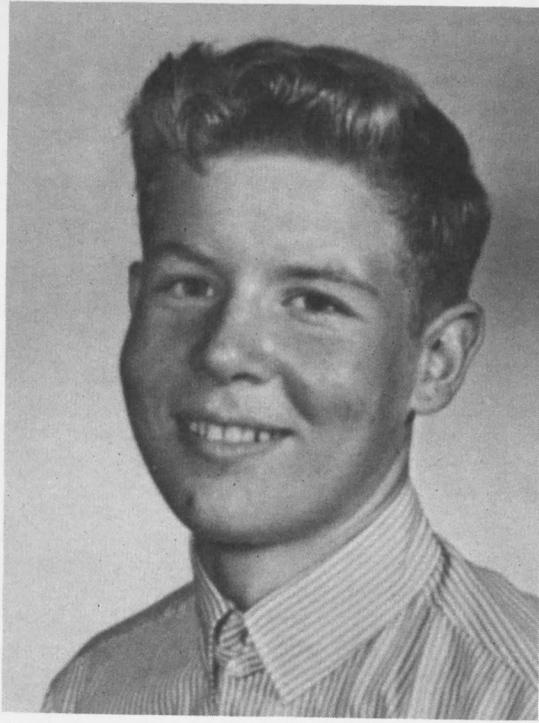

To produce a Yearbook today is a highly complicated business venture involving the co-operative effort of a number of students. That young people are not only capable of carrying such a venture to a successful conclusion but doing it with style is something which society in general should applaud.

The students directly and indirectly concerned in this publication have earned the sincere congratulations and thanks of the staff, students and friends of Elmwood High School.

It seems a very short time since last September and my introduction to Elmwood High School. Short as it seems, it has been long enough to realize that I have been so fortunate as to be placed in a very fine school. Following a beloved personality like Mr. D. S. McIntyre is difficult but the kindness and understanding of the staff and the students has been a wonderful help.

My thanks for the assistance I have received.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

A school does not have a rubber stamp with which each student, leaving high school, receives, across the forehead in bold letters, the word "EDUCATED". High school is but a step, giving us a further understanding of ourselves and the world which we are to enter. In high school, we acquire not only an education from books, but also a source of experiences in leadership and co-operation. I believe this year Elmwood High has succeeded in developing a graduating class capable of handling itself well in the world.

Miss MacDonald and the staff of Elmwood High have handled the problems of a larger high school expertly, and the operation of our school this year has been both smooth and efficient. To Miss MacDonald, I would like to express the wish of continued success as principal of Elmwood High.

A long sought dream was achieved this year--the "Elmwood Eskies." Our football team handled themselves well, and Elmwood can be proud of its first football team. The future can only hold success!

Though victory was not always ours, Elmwood has been well represented in inter high athletics. Our inter-school teams reflected the high calibre of inter-room athletics at Elmwood High.

Always there to cheer on our teams were our ever-faithful cheerleaders, who deserve credit for their untiring devotion. To these girls I extend my personal thanks.

The Inscripta has finally come of age--hard covers. Despite the increased cost of production, the yearbook staff has had a financially successful year and has created a book of which Elmwood can be proud. This fine book is a tribute to Allan Galbraith and his staff for all the hard work they have put into it.

I should like to thank, the Student Council, the Social Committee, the Red Cross, the staff and all those individuals whose willing assistance made my task a little easier and made Elmwood High a little better.

In closing, I should like to wish each of you the best of luck and happiness in the future. Thank-you.

Bob Fostakowsky

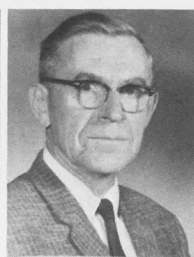

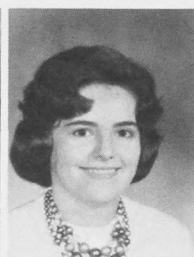

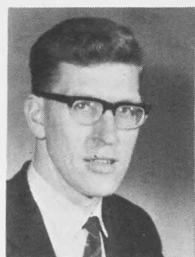

Vice-Principal's Message

It has been said that one can find a quotation from Shakespeare to suit every occasion. Much of the charm and appeal of his plays lies in the timelessness of many of their passages. Those of you who have been exposed to grade twelve English will recognize the following excerpt as Polonius' advice to his son Laertes on his departure for France. Even though it was written many years ago it contains several good suggestions which might be of value to all of us. And so, for your consideration:

"Yet here,.....!¹ aboard, aboard, for shame!
The wind sits in the shoulder of your sail,
And you are stay'd for. There; my blessing with thee!
And these few precepts in thy memory
See thou character. Give thy thoughts no tongue,
Nor any unproportion'd thought his act.
Be thou familiar, but by no means vulgar.
Those friends thou hast, and their adoption tried,
Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel;
But do not dull thy palm with entertainment
Of each new-hatch'd unfledged comrade. Beware
Of entrance to a quarrel, but being in,
Bear't that the opposed may beware of thee.
Give every man thy ear, but few thy voice;
Take each man's censure, but reserve thy judgment.
Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy,
But not express'd in fancy; rich, not gaudy;
For the apparel oft proclaims the man,
Neither a borrower nor a lender be;
For loan oft loses both itself and friend,
And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry.
This above all: to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.
Farewell: my blessing season this in thee!"²

GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S MEDALIST

The task of choosing from among the candidates for the Governor General's Award is not an easy one. Each person must have shown in the past year an outstanding scholastic record coupled with a dynamic personality and an unfailing interest in school development.

Ian Thomson has shown all these qualities and more. His untiring efforts have led him well along the road to success in all of these fields and have made him a brilliant highlight in school records. He received the highest marks in two of the subjects on the course prescribed for matriculation in grade twelve, and proved himself to be of extremely high intelligence as a member of the Elmwood High "Reach For The Top" television team. He, together with Richard Luddick, Thompson Owens, and Noreen Marshall set an example for all future students by defeating their competitors from throughout the Province by a substantial margin. He was also one of the two students chosen to represent Elmwood at the Model United Nations Assembly in April of 1964.

For the two years that I have known Ian Thomson as a friend and cohort in the Year-book editing business I have found him to be an outstanding person and an excellent business man in crucial periods. An illustration of this would be the 1963 Inscripta of which our man Ian was editor. We are proud of his achievements and wish him the best of luck in the future.

VALEDICTORY

Miss MacDonald, honoured guests, members of the staff, fellow graduates, ladies and gentlemen:

As we gather tonight for the last time, let us depart from the usual sadness which accompanies farewells, and be happy in the thought that now we are high school graduates, a challenging new future lies before us.

To some of us, this represents the chance to begin immediately to earn a living, while others have gone a further step, and set out to study at the University, or become established in a professional career. As we think back on our years of school, however, we cannot help but realize that the eligibility to earn a living, or proceed to further studies, is only one of the many benefits we have gained from our high school education.

We will always cherish the memory of the experiences we have shared, and although we may be widely separated over the coming years, the mutual aims that we have developed here will continue to bind us together.

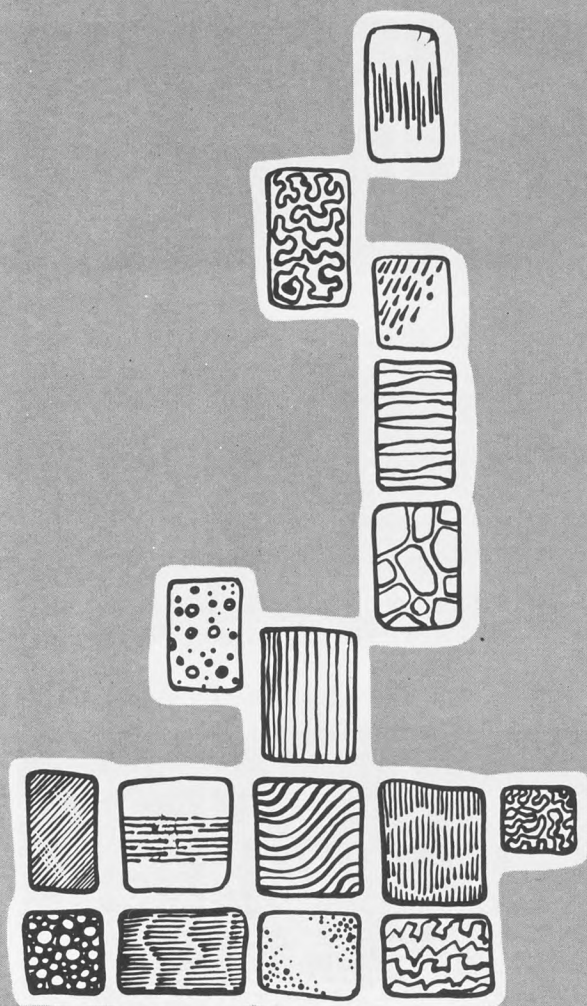

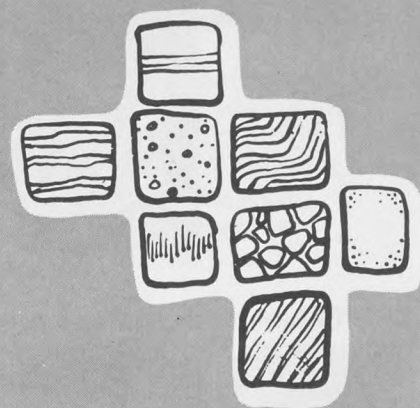

During our years at Elmwood High, we devoted our extra time to many activities; among them the newspaper, the yearbook, the Red Cross committee, and the various athletic competitions. Not all of us, it is true, could be members of the inter-high school athletic teams, or the quiz team, but the thrill of cheering for our competitors made us all participants in spirit. The various activities that we undertook, over the years, taught us sportsmanship as well as scholarship, and have established within us a feeling of fellowship and goodwill.

The guidance of our teachers and parents has been a very important influence on us throughout our years of school: With their help we have learned to be independent - to make decisions for ourselves. We have been given a sound attitude and a responsible approach to life's problems; an understanding of people; the world; and a respect for the rights of others. It is to our teachers and our parents that we owe special thanks, for they have given us the tools with which to build our lives.

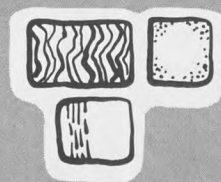

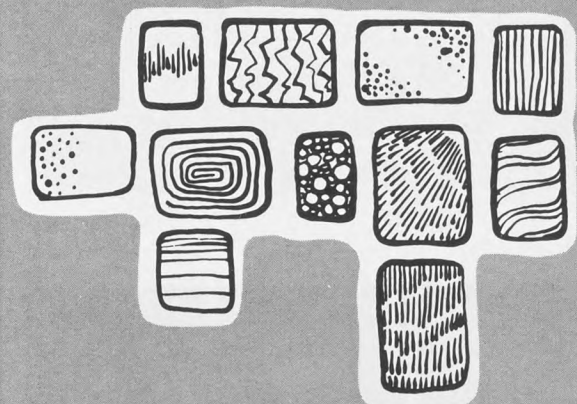

Now, as we step out into our chosen fields of endeavour, we find a modern world in which each year brings new advances in a great many, fields: Science, technology, medicine, transportation, communication and space travel - to name just a few. But while we enjoy the benefits of this wonderful, and plentiful age, we must always be conscious that elsewhere in our world there is conflict - between nations and within them; there is racial and religious prejudice, and there is widespread hunger.

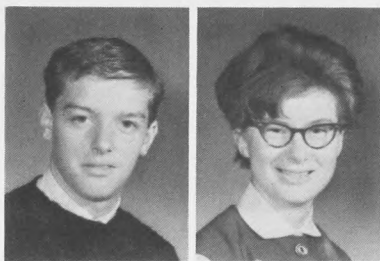

Perhaps our generation can make some small contribution towards correcting these ills, but whatever we do, let us determine to accept the challenge of life with courage, resolution and fortitude, as we now bid one another farewell.

Angie Wenzel: This blonde of room 33, can usually be found cruising the halls, with W.W., looking for a certain guy. Favorite Saying: "You know."

Derek Whiteside: Derek can almost always be found at Chateau, Bud's, or taking stock in the halls. He is one of 11-33's pool sharks.

Ursula Wicha: Is known for her incessant running around, whenever there is an opportunity. In class she is quite studious???

Frances Wickstrom: Black-haired beauty of 11-33. Can be seen with K.S., G.D., J.R., and M.P.

Ambition: To marry her Honey. Ultimate Fate: To marry her Honey.

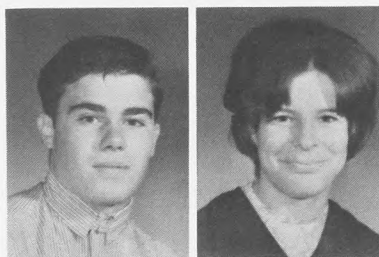

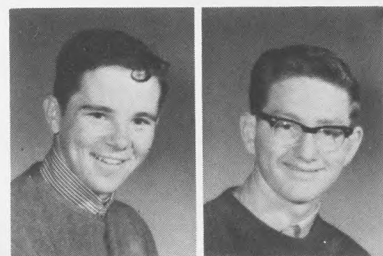

Linda Wilwand: Transferred from 11-24 so she could acquire a KNOWLEDGE?? of her favorite subject, Typing. Ambition: Get rid of her blonde hair. Pet Peeve: Brown roots.

Bev Woods: The Beatle loving, boy chasing, fun loving kid of 11-33. Can be seen fighting with T. Ambition: To get that letter from R.

Jim Babson: This usually quiet but very funny guy delights in Biology Lab. Favorite Saying: "Oh that gore!" Boys' sports captain of the room, his interests include girls, sports, and Literature classes.

Don Banks: Noted for composing his own language in typing class. Favorite Saying: "Matter of fact ... " Spends his spare time walking the streets of Elmwood.

Ken Boyko: Very intelligent? Known for the quaint questions he asks in History. Loves arguing with Mr. September. Favorite Pastime: Working on his car.

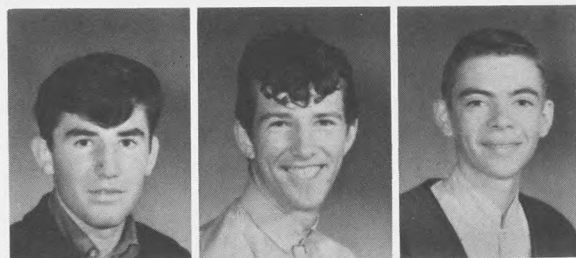

Bob Brodsky: A great guy to know. He's always willing to help. Often seen wheeling around in the "Wildcat." Interested in girls, sports, week-ends, and marks.

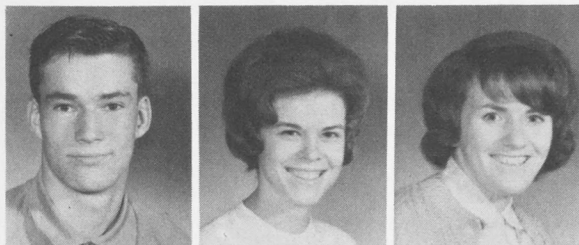

Pat Crabb: Hard-working part-time cashier. Girls' sports captain. Pat's favorite saying is, "Two more and we'll have a team." Interests: Boys, sports, and school.

Dennis Downey: Better late than never, "Gome" is always seen wearing a smile. Loves surprising teachers and passing tests. Dr. Gome performs interesting operations in Lab.

Jim Emler: Frequently seen wondering what study period to go to next. Business manager of the Yearbook. Favorite Saying: "Wanna go for coffee?" Ambition: Grade 12.

Ken McDonald: Wonders why he can't watch girls' games in the gym. Likes driving his '56 Dodge. Only serious-minded guy in the room.

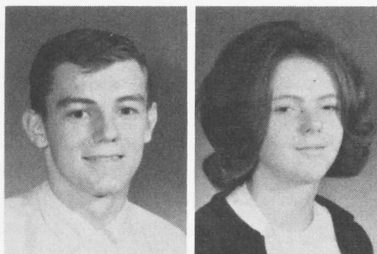

Tom Pennie: Usually teams up with Jim and keeps the class in stitches. Interests: Girls, sports, and a certain bakery shop. Favorite Saying: "What did I do?"

Linda Ramm: Everybody's friend. Needs a 30 1/2 hour day to keep up with cheerleading, sports and student council. Favorite Saying: "I'm starving!" Fate: Starvation.

Susan Roach: "Boy, wait 'til I get my license!" is her favorite expression. Wonder why? Hmm. Friend to all, Sue's interests are sports, pep club and travelling.

George Sykes: "Gino" is 11.37's President and is well-liked by all. Likes: Girls, sports, and Jim's corny jokes. Dislikes guys who like themselves. Spends spare time at "Del's."

Betty-Ann Young: Mystery surrounds this cute import from Melville, Saskatchewan. Wonders why we have to play basketball. Interested in boys, and weekends at Home in Melville.

"O Canada"

Scripture Reading Pat Brough, Vice President

Prayer for Remembrance Day Thompson Owens

Hymn: "O God Our Help in Ages Past."

O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Our shelter from the stormy blast,
And our eternal home.

Under the shadow of Thy throne
Thy saints have dwelt secure;
Sufficient is Thine arm alone,
And our defence is sure.

Before the hills in order stood,
Or earth received her frame,
From everlasting Thou art God,
To endless years the same.

EDITORIAL

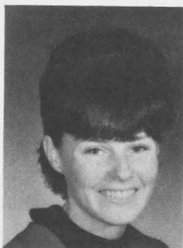

We have reached our goal; a hard-cover yearbook. As you can see, this book is compiled with the highest quality material available. Into this book has gone ten months of hard work by the Inscripta staff. We are proud of it!

The staff of this fine book wish to extend their sincere appreciation to our staff representatives. Our chief advisor, Mr. H.D. Kemp, who elevated the Inscripta to a profitable organization; Mr. K. Tinsley and Mr. C. Leavens, who spent much of their time on our yearbook write-ups; and Mr. September, who did much work with our literary section, are all worthy of our greatest esteem.

I would especially like to thank the Assistant Editor, Colleen Iverach, Gail Holding, our Secretary, and Jim Emler, Business Manager.

To the hardworking Yearbook Staff, to our Staff Advisors, and to those who helped with the production of this book--I thank you.

Activities

STUDENT COUNCIL

Under the leadership of Bob Fostakowsky, this year's council has achieved a successful year. The council continued to support our Greek foster child, granting funds for her support, and to sponsor the usual school dances. However, the Council also advocated several new activities in Elmwood, such as directories and professional dance instruction. The Council charity was the March of Dimes and to raise funds it advocated a program of roam projects, which included coke dances, movies, desert sales, and a swimming party.

This year the Council gained a fuller control over school activities. With this control, the student Council co-ordinated the activities of the school's various organizations. The Social Committee, Red Cross, Yearbook, Drama Club, etc.

The Student Council, on the whole, has had a successful year, and also important, a financially successful year. Deviating from precedent, the Council has not been plagued by poor attendance and has received full co-operation from both staff and students. The Council this year has achieved the position of control for which it was originated.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

October's Freshie Dance started off the year's festivities with the biggest bang since the Graduation Dance last year. Our Freshie Queen, chosen from among the many belles by the student body, is a cute little number by the name of Brenda Gloux, while our emcee, Dean Scott, had the pleasure of giving the King's Crown to the ever popular Alan Rogocki.

Bob Burns and the Pepsi Pack of Teen Dance Party fame came to our fair halls for the Mistletoe Mash. Bob proved an invaluable asset and the Pepsi Pack provided some wild entertainment.

Cupid's Carpers, a catchy little title, is the name of our Sweethearts' Dance for 1965. Emcee Gary Todd from CKY and his brilliant personality announced George Sykes and Nancy Fredrickson as our SWEET-HEARTS of the Year.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

This has been a very successful year for the Red Cross thanks to the active participation of students and staff. A new kind of project was undertaken when members dressed 120 dolls for distribution at Christmas by the Winnipeg firemen. A contest was held in conjunction with this project; the winners were Norrie Coley, Linda McMurray, and Brenda Neufield. In addition we conducted a clothing drive for children's clothes for Christmas distribution.

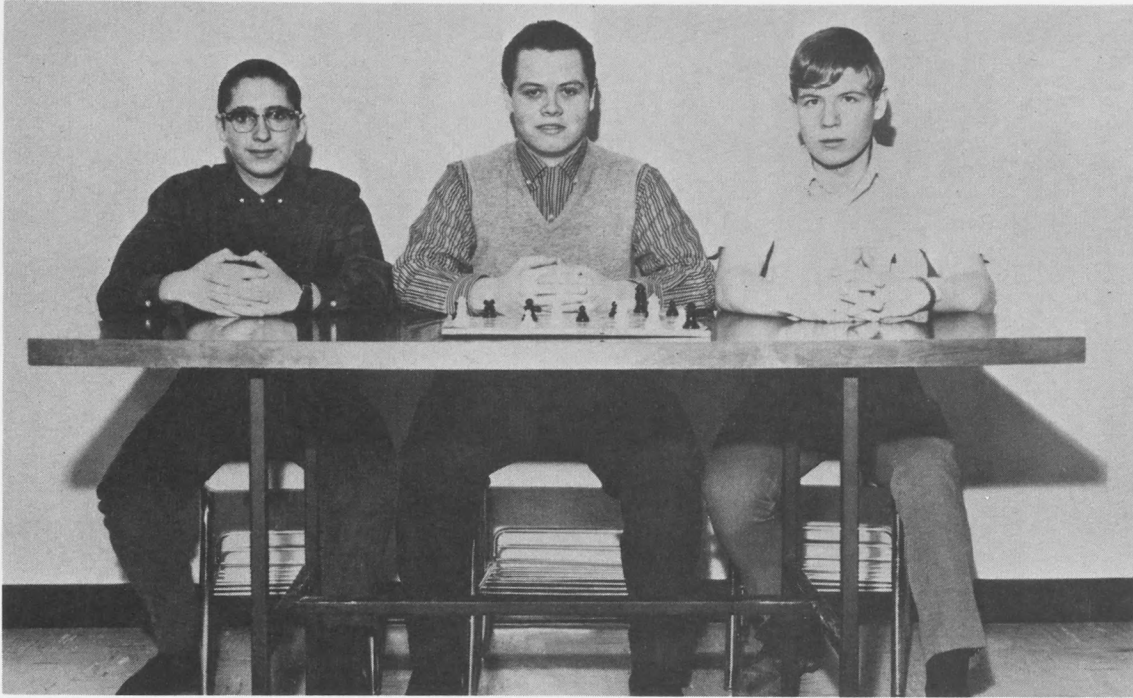

Some years ago, Elmwood formed what was known as the Red Cross Entertainment Group. At the request of Mrs. Carpenter, the convener of High School Red Cross, a new group was formed under the direction of Joe Condello.

Our year-round project, the Nightingale Nursing Home, has been carried on successfully. Eight members visit the Home weekly and render, we trust, useful services. Special occasions receive special attention and this year we provide a cake monthly to help remember those with birthdays. Our Christmas party this year was particularly well-received; there were more decorations and presents for all.

I would like to give special thanks to Susan Fahy and Joe Concello for their assistance and, of course, many thanks to Mrs. Janus for her help and guidance.

CHESS CLUB

A tournament was held in Room 2 to decide who would represent our school in the Free Press Chess Tournament this year. The team consisted of Osher Drory, Bob Scott, Bob Fostakowsky, Bob Clark and Doug Wonnacott, (spare). Despite a slow start, the team played well and placed eleventh in the Tournament.

QUIZ TEAM

This year's Quiz Team was made up of Bill O'Neil, Erika Koenig, Larry Hamilton and Dave Zebrasky. All four members worked very hard, staying after school and reading through books, magazines, and newspapers. Although the team was unsuccessful, Elmwood can be extremely proud of them. Thompson Owens, a former Quiz Team member, coached them this year.

GIRLS' CHOIR

ELMWOOD HIGH SCHOOL CHOIRS

The school year 1964-65 has proven quite eventful for Elmwood's choir under their new director, Mr. Keith Tinsley.

The beginning of the year was started with a girls' choir rehearsing for the Graduation Exercises which were held in the school auditorium in October. From here they proceeded to rehearsals for our Remembrance Day Services during which selections heard were "Let Us Now Praise Famous Men" and "O God, Our Help In Ages Past".

With the approach of the Yuletide Season they were honoured with request from the Winnipeg Hydro to take part in a Carol Program which was broadcast over Radio Station C. K. R. C. By this time Mr. Tinsley had acquired a boys' choir who joined the Girls in singing numerous carols.

In spring, a young man's fancy turns to love and their's to "The Swallows". Yes, with the coming of the Music Festival their voices were once more heard in a "charming ditty", "The Farmer and the Milkmaid", and "She's Like a Swallow", a Newfoundland folk-song. They were victorious in their class and placed first with marks of 88 and 86 for a total of 174. Our mixed choir competed in the same competition along with our boys' choir. In the J. S. Little, Trophy competition, which followed on March 25 as a final competition, the girls did not place first, however during the entire festival the three choirs received wonderful adjudication.

BOYS' CHOIR

ROMEO, FAIR ROMEO.....

On one frosty morning in the middle of our fair-foul season, November, that is, these famous words echoed through the halls of Elmwood High. As one might have already guessed, it was a visit from the merry players of The Manitoba Theatre Centre. As always, they provided the students and the teachers with an amusing rendition of how theatre must have been in the days when Shakespeare wrote his immortal plays. We wish to thank the Manitoba Theatre Centre and the actors and assure them that their time was not wasted.

THE UNITED NATIONS CLUB

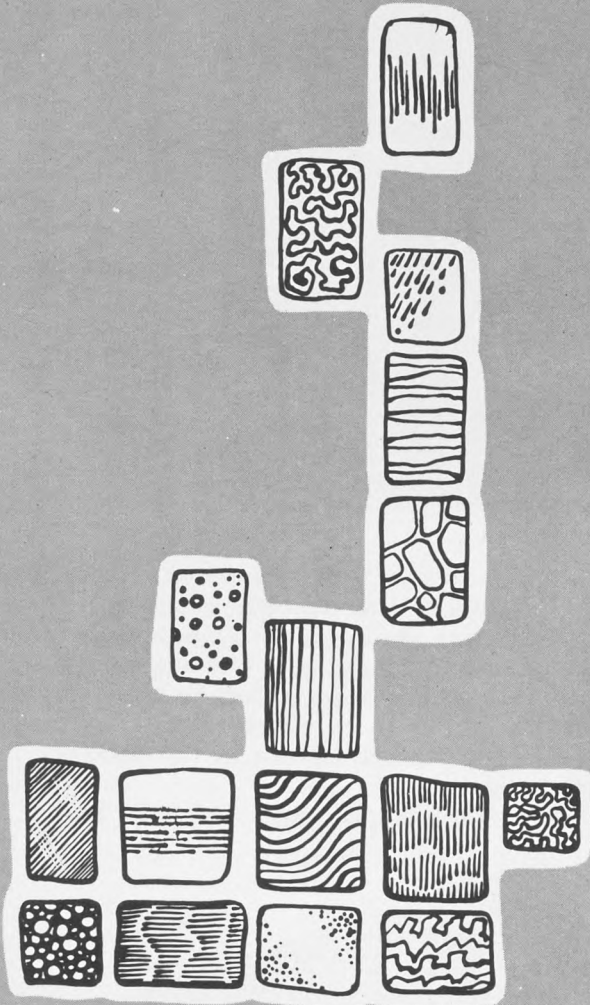

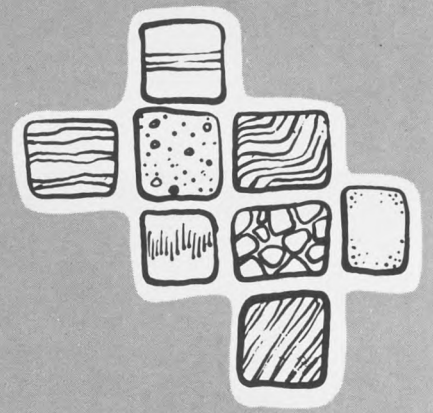

January marked the launching of the United Nations Club in its first season at Elmwood High. Our first meetings were devoted to the election of the executive and to the establishment of the club on a permanent basis. In February we became a chartered club with the United Nations Association in Canada. At later meetings, the United Nations Financial Crisis, the situation in South Viet Nam, and other topics before the United Nations in New York were discussed. Two members of the U. N. Club, Bob Fostakowsky and Alice Gaertner, were chosen to represent the United States at the Model United Nations Assembly held at Grant Park in the Easter holidays.

Special thanks go to Mr. September, our staff advisor, for the guidance which he has given us.

Sports

BOYS' VARSITY SOCCER

It was rather pleasing to note the enthusiasm shown by Elmwood Soccer teams, both in practising and in playing official matches. Neither of the two teams brought home any trophies, but they did not in any way disgrace their school. Enthusiasm, however, is not the only requirement for playing soccer. Efforts should be made to bring about improvements in all departments of the game.

Soccer, although more widely played than any other football game, is still the Cinderella of sports in Winnipeg, for obvious reasons. Would regular soccer Clinics, therefore be too much to hope for? Let's hope not!

The team started the season with a loss, but due to fine coaching it started to form about half-way through their scheduled league games. Fine playing led to having all games close in scoring. Ron Stewart led the scoring with 113 points in 10 games. Fine spirit and good sportsmanship was always displayed. Many thanks to the students for their support and to Mr. Jermundson for his untiring effort.

BOYS' FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Of Freshman basketball at Elmwood it may be said, "Valiant are those who serve". The odds for years have been against our teams--fewer years of experience per player, smaller numbers for selection, and so forth. Yet each year a team is fielded and games are lost. The important thing is that the boys have always played with great spirit, always hoping for a win, though usually striving for a certain score. Loyalty has always been strong; fair play has always been the motto. The team deserves our admiration more than any previous team has deserved school support. They returned to the floor repeatedly to face the tallest opposition ever. When you jump and find yourself elbow high to your check, it can be discouraging.

BOYS' VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

Boys' Indoor Track

This year the team competed in the Meet of Champions in January and the Red River Relays in April. Both meets were held in the Winnipeg Arena. Qualifying for the Meet of Champions were the 4 x 1 lap relay team, John Lues for the 60 yard dash, and Orton Harrison and Dave Peabody for the high jump. Orton went on to win in the high jump. In the Red River Relays, John Lues and Orton Harrison qualified. The team practised hard, and a good effort was put forth by all. We would like to thank our coach, Mr. Jermundson, for his assistance.

ELMWOOD ESKIMOS

This year marked the debut of Elmwood High's football team. After years of fund raising campaigns, Elmwood succeeded in raising the necessary funds to maintain a football team. The team started practices under the capable leadership of Louis Mainella and Hugh Turnbull. The season started with an exhibition game against Portage la Prairie. The final outcome was 25-6 in favour of Portage. Elmwood's lone tally came when John Schellinger recovered a fumble and rambled for the touchdown.

The team spirit was high as the season started with a game against Gordon Bell. Gordon Bell won 37-20 but the team came on strong to score all their points in the last half. Brian Gadsby led the team on touchdown runs of 42, 68, and 2 yards. The fan support for this game was tremendous.

The offence faltered in the next four games, but the defence came on strong to hold the other teams down. Elmwood lost by scores of 8-0, 7-0, 15-0, and 25-0 to St. John's, Tec. Voc, Sisler, and St. Paul's respectively. The team recovered to give a good performance at the Red Feather Tournament against Grant Park. It was a close game as Elmwood lost 12-6. Brian Gadsby scored Elmwood's lone marker on a brilliant 53 yard run. Elmwood closed the season with an outstanding, all-round, performance against Daniel Mac. The final score was 25-12. Elmwood's touchdowns came on crowd pleasing runs by Derryl Burdiak, and Brian Gadsby. Some of the outstanding players throughout the year were: Orton Harrison, Brian Gadsby, Calvin Paul, Derryl Burdiak, John Schillinger, George Sykes, Brian Cadle, and Greg Merner. The defence was lead by Harrison and Cadle while the offence was lead by Schillinger and Merner.

Elmwood Eskimos gave a fine performance for a first-year team. We feel that in the coming years, with the added experience, Elmwood will be champions.

Despite injuries and sickness, the determined ambition of the girls and the fine coaching of Miss Dunning and Ron Stewart, the team won all their scheduled league games. The only loss, to Tec Voc, in a sudden death, semi-final game was heartbreaking, as the team lost its chance at the city championship. Fine playing ability and sportsmanship were displayed in all games, and the team was one of which the school can be proud.

Both teams are to be congratulated on their fine efforts this year. The Varsity team in particular have set a very high standard for teams in future to meet. They are the first Elmwood team ever to go through the Basketball schedule undefeated. It was a pleasure working for them.

GIRLS' FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

There was a large turnout of members for this team, and this contributed to a fine season. They did not reach the finals, but each game was hard-fought and spirits were always high.

Although unable to experience a win all season the spirit and morale of the girls of the team were always high. All games being well-played, fate just seemed to be against their winning. Perhaps next year will prove more successful.

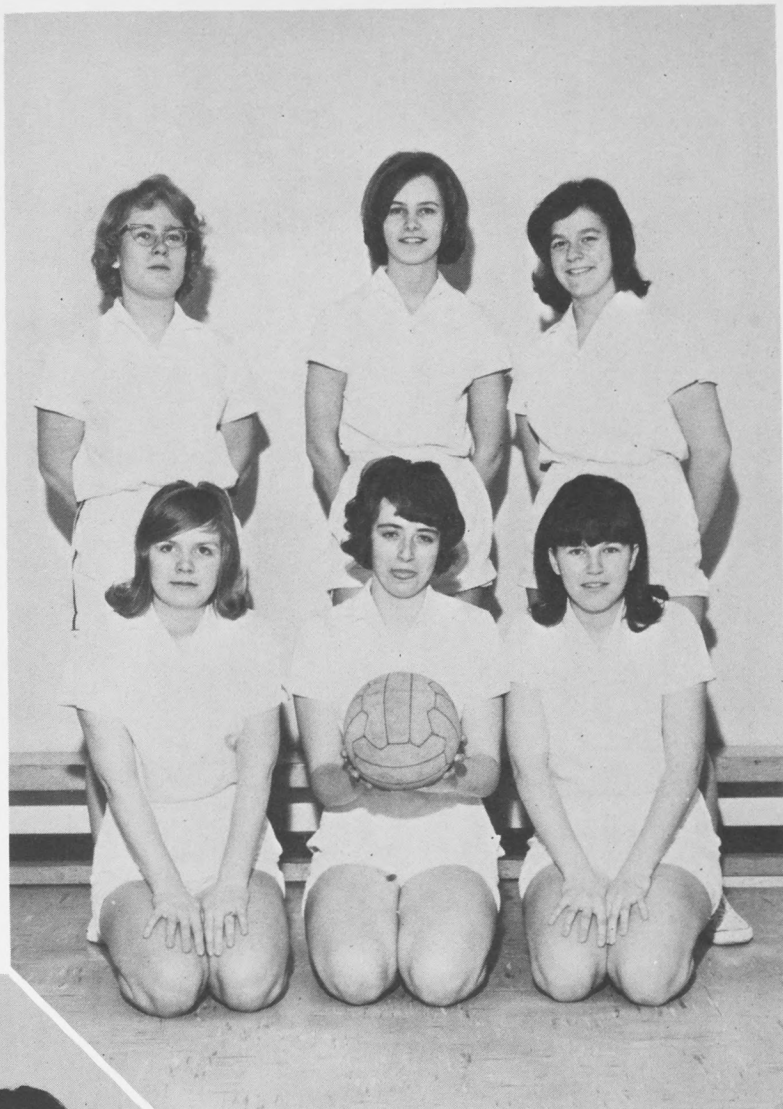

GIRLS' FRESHMAN VOLLEYBALL

Through much practice under the fine coaching of Miss Dunning, this year's Freshman team made a fine showing. Winning the majority of its games, the team reached the semi-finals, but were unsuccessful. Fine teamwork was displayed in each game and hopes are high for next season.

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT

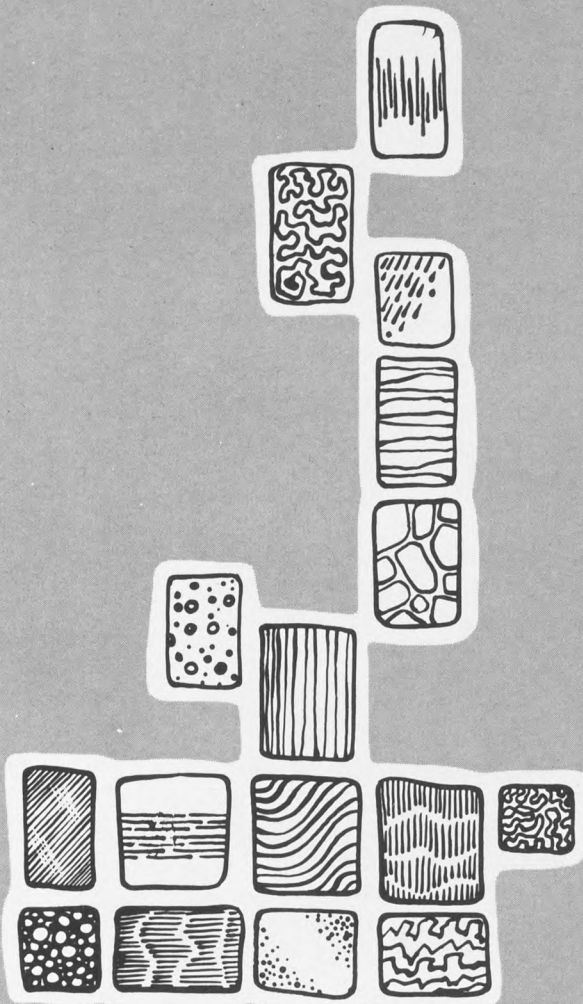

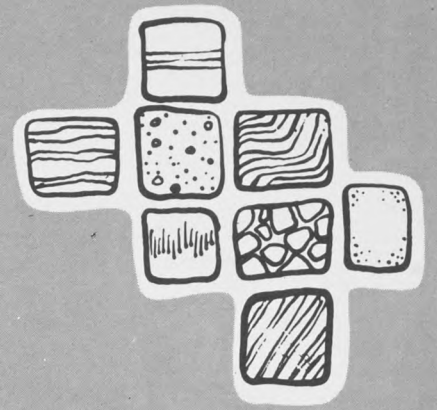

OF WINNIPEG
287 Sherbrook Street

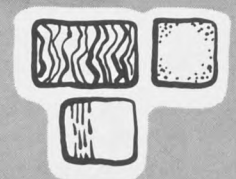

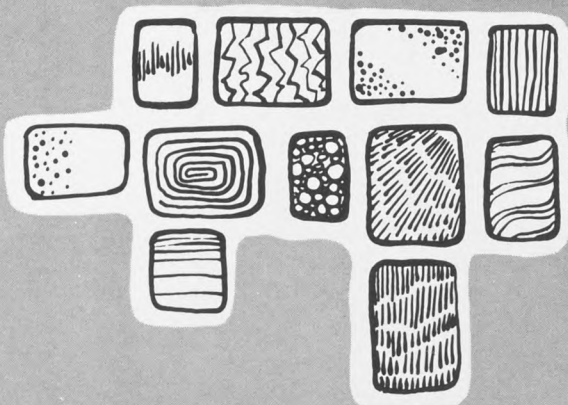

For two hours, one night each week, between September and May, thousands of teenagers are finding out what makes Business "tick". In over 370 Communities in Canada and the United States, young people in high school, Grades X, XI, & XII, are running businesses of their own.

Divided into groups of 20 to 25 teenagers, they form their own Board of Directors, work forces and sales staff. Through the co-operation of high school authorities and your Board of Education, Junior Achievement offers an opportunity for high school students to become part of this economic education program.

Twenty-seven Elmwood High students are members of the association working in some eleven business enterprises. Among the positions are two Vice-Presidents in charge of Production and Sales, a Treasurer, two Safety Directors, a Personnel Manager, a Sales Manager, two Safety Directors and a Quality Control Inspector. The experience all of the students gain in business administration will, without doubt, be of great value to them in the future. The group of Junior Achievers is to be congratulated for its initiative and effort.

Literary

The Stranger

I walked slowly towards the lecture hall. Glancing down at my watch, I noticed that it was seven-thirty. The lecture would start at eight. Upon entering the huge auditorium, I decided to sit in a back-row seat. I picked up a program from the seat next to me and began to read it. Apparently this lecture was going to be about battles fought by Canadians, during the Second World War. People were beginning to enter the hall. After ten minutes the onslaught of men and women relented but a few sporadic groups rushed in at the last minute.

The curtains were drawn back and in the middle of the stage stood the lecturer. A young man suddenly appeared from the wing of the platform and introduced the lecturer, Dr. Braicken, to the audience.

In a loud and booming voice Dr. Braicken said: "We Canadians can justly be proud of the soldiers who fought for our great nation during the Second World War. They have won glory and prestige for Canada."

I listened intently to his speech and digested it eagerly. After half an hour has passed, I realized that I was being overfed. To make matters worse there was no dessert; humour was scarce but four-syllable words were abundant.

While gazing about the auditorium I noticed a man standing in the doorway of the side exit. He seemed to be different from the other people there. In dress he was different. This man wore a dull dingy overcoat and shabby trousers. His face was weather-beaten; he had a parchment-like skin. His forehead was hideously wrinkled and it held a continual frown. The eyes of this man were deeply set in their sockets and the huge dark eye brows produced a horrifying effect. Beads of perspiration appeared on his face as stray rays of light penetrated the dark corner of the exit. This man's face revealed the silent, subtle turmoil that possessed his mind.

As his speech was drawing to a close, Dr. Braicken's eyes fell upon this desolate fellow, whom he instantly recognized as an old war-time "buddy." The lecturer gestured to his old friend and the desolate man walked slowly to the stage. Dr. Braicken shouted proudly: "Ladies and gentlemen, this is Bob Helton, one of the best fighter pilots the Canadian Air Force has ever had. During the Second World War this man shot down over twenty Nazi Fighter Planes!"

A deafening applause arose from the audience. As Bob Helton stood in the centre of the stage I knew that pride did not grip his mind, for shame and regret were too deeply rooted in his soul.

A Forest Fire

Weary as I was from hunting on that autumn day, sleep fell upon everything but me. Endlessly my eyes searched the opposite banks of the lake. How could I rest, while knowing my companion might be alive and suffering within the devil-like fires which raged across the forests near the shores of the lake.

The blaze grew, but the spark of hope within my heart weakened.

The shrieking winds sent flames high into the heavens, to join the stars in their infernal dance across the skies.

Huge trees swayed fiercely before toppling to the ground with a crash. The bushes along the ground crackled in reply.

As the fire moved closer to the shore, it flung its hand out across the lake, not succeeding in reaching my side.

The waters of the lake frothed fiercely upon meeting the scornful fire, and sent smoky mists into the sky.

Slight breezes blew towards me carrying the scent of burnt meat. Could this tomb enclose the life of my faithful companion?

Just then, a huge fiery creature dove into the lake. The water sizzled about it. I dashed forth shouting, "Teddy! Teddy!" He swam as though pursued by Death. I heard him yelp for help.

Alive, the beast was--but, it was not Teddy. Out of the water had sprung his ever-lasting friend, his dog.

Opening Night

I walked stiffly down the centre aisle feeling uncomfortable in my stiff collar and new suit. My stomach was squashed against my ribs; my entire body was taut; my eyes were squinting into the glare of the roving spotlights, but mechanically I moved on. My first night!

Mr. Benson whispered his final advice to me from the owner's box in the front row.

"Put your stuff across with pride, son," he said.

With this thought fixed in my mind I turned and faced the crowd, feeling the hot glare from their stares. My tongue was balled against my tonsils; I could scarcely breathe, but I had to say my lines. I hesitated while the nausea shook my frame; then I opened my mouth, cleared my throat, and the words flowed out, "Peanuts, Popcorn, get 'em before the show starts."

The Necessity of Bringing the Right Book To Class

When a student does not bring the proper books to class, he is either of a forgetful nature or an indolent disposition, or both. Perhaps the psychological motive behind this lapse of memory was a hidden hatred for the subject and an unconscious desire to evade it at all costs. Or perhaps the teacher of the subject states his instructions ambiguously and this leads to confusion and indcision on the part of the pupil. Whatever the reason, the fact remains that one must bring the right books to class, and for several reasons. The most important is that the wrong book, or no book at all, hampers the students' scholastic progress, and this forgetfulness can have very painful consequences. The teacher, if he be of a choleric temperment, loses his patience and the other students are annoyed at having their work interrupted. On the whole, a number of unpleasant situations can arise and it is really much wiser to bring the right book.

Stage Fright

It was Friday, the twenty-fourth of May, 1965. Right at this moment throughout the province, people were dragging themselves out of bed. The eight o'clock whistles announced the start of a new day. For one man, this was to be the most tedious, drawn out day he would ever spend.

To meet our "friend", we must travel to the provincial prison. He can be found pacing the floor in his cell, thinking of that "special attention" he was going to receive at five o'clock on this quiet Friday. His cell block was completely empty, and the only sound in the area was the beat of his footsteps. This harsh noise seemed to increase as he continued his ritual. Lunch was brought, but he refused to eat. Mouth dry and stomach queasy, he continued his pacing throughout the entire day.

Finally, he heard the clinking of keys and the approaching footsteps of the guard. He muttered, "Oh God! My time has come."

Silently he stepped from his cell and proceeded to wend his way through a series of halls, a guard on either side. A hundred yards away was that door! Once he passed through it--.....! The blood rushed to his head and beads of sweat covered his body as the door swung open. In front of him was the warden, surrounded by news reporters. A hush fell over the group as the warden moved forward to speak. "Well, John, after fifty-seven years, you are finally free."

The Touch

I see him coming
Slim and sun-bronzed
My tall and tender one
His warm brown eyes on me
Melting me, holding me,
Drowning me in their mysterious depths
Our fingers intertwine
The touch tells all
No need to speak
My world is right, he loves me still.

Our Foster Child, Ionna Nikolopoulou

My dear Foster Parents,

You cannot guess the joy I felt when I got your dear little letter. For whole hours I was reading it over and over again and would not let it go. I was specially pleased to know that you are quite well. In my prayers I always ask that you may be blessed with happiness and prosperity. Our school has opened and I am making good progress at my lessons. I wish you to spend a good year at school too. We are now in the second fall month and the first rains have come. The farmers are getting ready to plough their fields. Thank you ever so much for your monthly grant of 240 drcs. ($8.00) and for the blanket and the pretty material you sent me for a dress. I like it very much. Many greetings to your families and to all your clubs. My own family send you their warm greetings and thanks. In my next letter I shall write you more. So here I end my loving message with my best love and wishes. Respectfully and with all my warm affection,

Your foster daughter,
Ioanna NIKOLOPOULOU.

Elmwood High's foster child, fifteen year old Ionna Nikolopoulou, lives with her mother and three brothers in the small agricultural village of Vouliagmeni in southern Greece. Ionna is in her second year of the gymnasium, the equivalent to our junior and senior high, and especially enjoys mathematics, and ancient Greek. The monthly grant of eight dollars provides food, clothing, and medical care for Ionna.

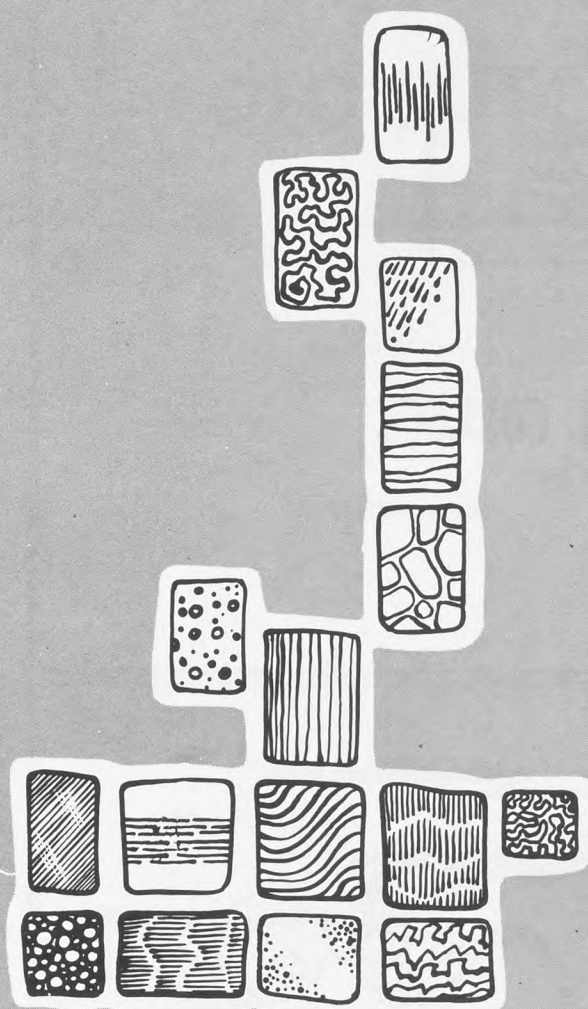

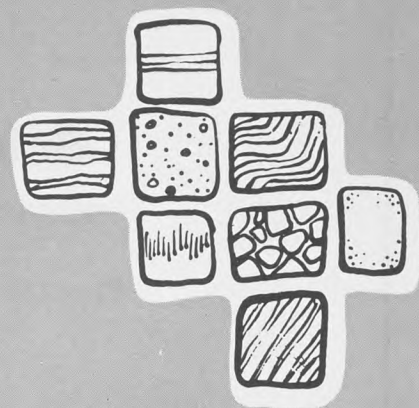

In addition to this grant, a large food hamper was sent to the family for Christmas, as well as a new wood stove for the Nikolopoulou's two room home. The school's "adoption" assures the provision of all the material benefits which are still sorely needed.

ELMWOOD HIGH SCHOOL BAND

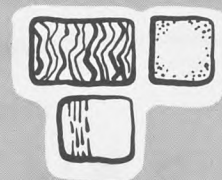

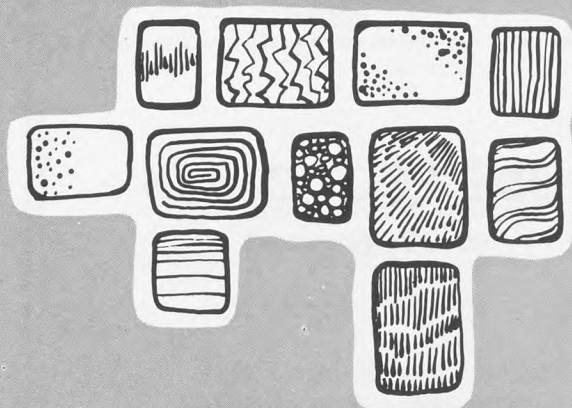

This year marks the tenth anniversary of our band. For a decade now the band, under the direction of Mr. Buss, has been enjoyed by various audiences, a circumstance brought about by much hard work. So it is fitting that there should be a special Day, May 3rd, on which certain band members will be rewarded for their diligence through the years.

The past year has been as busy as usual. In November, the band played at a concert at Tec-Voc where Mr. Isaacs, the head of the School of Music at the University of Manitoba said that the band was "a very good band indeed." The trip to Swan River in the same month was a huge success, and this year we plan to visit Fargo at the end of April. This year the band acted as hosts to some 175 students attending the annual Band Clinic. There have been two concerts, one at Elmwood, the other at David Thompson, and our final concert will be held in May. We would like to congratulate the band on their fine performances and at any rate, we have all enjoyed ourselves immensely, and may Mr. Buss prosper!
